September 30, 2023

Welcome to the 6th annual Pitman High School Preview of Champions Band Review!

Our Band Boosters have been working tirelessly for the past several months to ensure you have a positive experience and we appreciate your decision to attend our band review.

Feel free to make your way to the Pitman quad for food trucks, fun and the awards after the parade.

Our Grand Marshal for today is Patti Allen. Join The Marching Pride in honoring the memory of Patti Allen, our Preview of Champions event coordinator, as she lost her battle with cancer just a few days ago. Patti began her involvement with the band in 2014. Her boys joined The Marching Pride during their time at Pitman High School. Patti loved to be involved, so she joined the band board in 2016 as Communications Coordinator, became President Elect in 2018, and then held the lead position as the Marching Pride Band Boosters President from 2019-2020. In 2019, Patti became the event coordinator for the Preview of Champions and continued to run the event even after her youngest son graduated in 2020. Patti loved the Marching Pride and continued to support it to ensure the growing success of the Preview of Champions. Throughout all her involvement with the band she impacted so many families, band parents and, especially, the band students. Her bright personality, strong leadership, and natural ability to see the big picture yet manage details will be sorely missed. This kick off to the marching season has become the wonderful event it is because of her hard work and dedication. We love you Patti Allen, you will always be a member of the PRIDE!

And to you, thank you for taking the time to attend our band review today. We hope you enjoy the music, enthusiasm and hard work of each of the student musicians you encounter!

Musically yours,

PARADE ROUTE

PARADE BASICS

The marching bands are separated into divisions based on the number of students in the group. Groups compete against those of a similar size in a military style marching competition. They are judged on the following:

Music: the difficulty of the piece, the accuracy, musical technique and expression as pieces are played by the band.

Showmanship: band & guard uniform coordination, how the whole group looks as they perform, the precision and carriage of the musicians, musicality of how the band interprets the music.

Marching: how the whole group looks as they move along as well as how the individual musicians look, the difficulty of the color guard routine.

Auxiliaries: the color guard is judged on how well they perform and how they interpret the march.

Drum Major: the drum majors are judged on the creativity and execution of the routine they usually perform just before the band begins the march. They are also judged on their salute as they pass the judges and their overall presentation as they lead the band.

Percussion: the drum line can compete separately, and the groups are judged on how well they play, the marching routine of the musicians and how well the two work together.

Sweepstakes: these awards are given to the band, regardless of division, with the highest numerical score in the marching, showmanship, and parade area.
